CUCUMBER
UI Automation

The client got a highly maintainable test suite and reduced the turnaround time for regression test execution. The client also reaped the cost and time benefits due to test automation.

Here we have used the cucumber BDD framework as per client requirements. we have written the function which first read the data from the xlsx sheet and copies all the data and paste it into the feature file under the example section and test start running the feature file. Which provide the user to select the test data dynamically.