

The client can now easily manage the test suite and execute the test cases as a necessity to support its CI/CD environment. The manual time required by the test execution has been drastically cut down. The client also reaped the cost and time benefits due to test automation.

Here we have used the TestNG framework as per client requirements. We have implemented a properties file that contains all the entry points and implemented an interface that contained all the methods for the entry points. Also, we wrote our own custom method to handle the sync issues.
